Article Review Assignment

These assignments are designed to expose you to professional, psychological literature by obtaining, reading, and evaluating peer-reviewed literature. From the list below, you will pick one scholarly article and write a brief review for the article. The Article Review Assignments will be worth 10 points each.

Each Article Review is worth 10 points. Papers will be evaluated for meeting the criteria stated below, as well as for grammar, thoughtfulness, logic, and pertinence to the topic. Each paper must be at least one (1) page long using a 12-point font, double-spaced, with 1” margins (top, bottom, and sides). Any citations/references must be in appropriate APA format. You must include the full APA-style reference for the article you pick. The due dates are listed in the semester schedule. Late papers will lose points.

In each Article Review the following questions must be addressed:

1. What is/are the hypothesis(es) of this study?
2. Are there any ethical considerations in this study?
3. How did the researchers collect the data (i.e., what were the methods)?
4. How many participants were used? What is the breakdown by age, ethnicity, sex?
5. What were the results? What statistics were used?
6. Was/were the hypothesis(es) supported?
7. What are two strengths of this study.
8. What are limitations of this study.
9. What are the implications of this study?

Select one of the following empirical articles to read and critique:
