

August 10, 2007

I am a returning student to Mt. San Antonio College. Having been away from school and working full-time since 2002, I was not exactly sure on the majors of studies that are available to me as a student here at Mt. SAC and beyond. In addition, since I am returning to school to seek for additional knowledge on my career of interest, I was looking for a class that would help me choose a suitable career and major. I was recommended to take Counseling 51, a class that deals specifically with the subject of career and academic planning, taught by Professor Stanley Mbuthi.

I had the pleasure being a part of Professor Stanley Mbuthi's Counseling 51 class this past summer. Since I have been in the workforce for years prior on returning to school, I have a fair understanding of how things are in the "Corporate World". And, I must say, the class and Professor Mbuthi paints an honest illustration on what the students can expect from the "Real World" at the conclusion of their academic career. I believe wholeheartedly that Professor Mbuthi is a perfect candidate to teach this course due to his personal experience, knowledge and passion on the subject and willingness to see all of his students succeed both academically and professionally. The class is not difficult; however, just like everything else in life, you must put in the time and effort if you're looking to earn an "A" at the end of the term. In other words, if you're willing to hold up your end of the bargain as a student who's here to learn, work hard and give everything you got, you will pass the course with flying colors since Professor Mbuthi is just as committed as you are on teaching the materials! Aside from all of the above, he is a very kind hearted and down-to-earth person. You will be influenced in a positive way by him.

As a summary, whether you're a returning or a new student to the college system, take this class by Professor Mbuthi. He will motivate, guide and give you the tools necessary on choosing a career and major that best suits your skills, talents and personality.

Regards,

Jack Chang